What is Pasture Perfect Beef?

Pasture Perfect Beef is a partnership between two farming couples who came together because of the values and principles they share when it comes to raising beef cattle.

John and Judy Ligo and Russ and Crystal Carlson have dedicated themselves to responsibly breeding livestock that will produce the highest quality beef. But it's not all about bloodlines and genetics. The cattle graze naturally in lush, grassy pastures and receive no added growth hormones, steroids or additives to their diets. Nor are they preventively treated with antibiotics.

The cattle are corn finished, which enhances the flavor and texture of the meat by creating marbling throughout the beef.

How is Pasture Perfect Beef Processed?

Although lengthier and more costly, all Pasture Perfect Beef is dry aged. Hanging the beef in a precisely controlled environment for two to three weeks encourages the natural enzymes to tenderize the muscle fibers, enhancing the rich robust flavor of the beef. The result is a steak or roast like nothing you've ever tasted.

You may purchase Pasture Perfect Beef by the individual cut, or in a package that best suits your needs. Custom cuts, variety meats and combinations available. Please feel free to share your special requests with us.
